First of the Murder Trials for the Killing of Eli Ladd in Henry County.

Hard to Get a Jury—Prosperity in Tipton County—Tried to Assassinate a Priest—Fatal Railway Accidents.

INDIANA.

First of the Ladd Murder Trials Begun—Great Difficulty in Getting a Jury.

NEW CASTLE, May 12.—The trial of Cassius M. Lake, one of the five men charged with the killing of Eli Ladd, a negro, in Blountsville, last February, was begun in the Circuit Court here this morning. The regular jury and a special venire of forty takers were in attendance, from which to select a jury. They had all exhausted before noon, about half having formed opinions in the case from reading the newspaper accounts of the homicide and hearing the matter discussed, and the others being challenged peremptorily. After exhausting the special venire, several bystanders were called and dismissed for various causes. Then the defendant's counsel filed an affidavit and motion for an additional special venire, and the court ordered an additional draft of forty men to report forthwith. Pending their coming, the ten men who had been selected, or rather, who had not been rejected, were placed in charge of a special officer and not allowed to separate. To-night a further examination of the venire is being made, and it is the aim of the court to have the jury made up before adjournment, but as the venire is progressing so slowly, it is doubtful whether they will be secured, at least before a very late hour.

Eli Ladd was a young man twenty years old, and lived on a farm with his father, four miles from Blountsville. On the fatal day he drove to Blountsville in a buggy, and while in the house of his betrothed was ordered to leave town by William Rozell, with whom he had previously had some trouble. Ladd drove home and Rozell, armed with a shotgun, followed him and shot him in the back. Ladd was killed on the spot. The body was found by a neighbor, and the case was reported to the sheriff. The case is the first case to be tried.

Tipton, May 12.—The year of 1930 promises to be one of general prosperity and improvement to this place. The Coleman heading and handle factory has commenced operations since the first of the year, and gives employment to nearly one hundred men. The Lake Erie and Western Railroad Company has made Tipton its passenger division point of the main line, and prospects are very flattering for the freight division point and train-dispatcher's office. A petition has also been circulated, and signed, and sent to the Hon. J. B. Cheadle, M. C., asking that Tipton be made a division point for mail trains. The City Council has ordered the improvement with vitrified brick of two streets, besides other streets that are now being improved. Three new additions have been added to the city, one by Thomas C. Day & Co., of Indianapolis, one by Gleason & Moore, and one by W. F. Wilcox. Gravel roads are also being built in the county. Many houses are being refitted and old houses and barns are giving way to new ones. Yet with all the prospects of the future as bright as a spring morning, Tipton has a few demagogues who say that the people of this county are heavily burdened by mortgages caused by the protective tariff. There is a corrupt political ring entrenched in the court-house that causes more complaint about the high taxes than does the tariff, even among Democratic farmers.

Leas and Stever, Peru's new men, did well, and there was also marked improvement in the team's batting and fielding. Attendance, 300. Weather rainy and the ground muddy.
